KJL SPECIAL ALERT

The Khoury Johnson and Leavitt team remain informed and engaged during these times of uncertainty. We are in communication with leadership in the executive, legislative and judiciary branches of state government, in addition to locals on a regular basis. Updates will continue every Friday as a mechanism to recap relevant activity from the past week.

Gov. Gretchen Whitmer Announces New COVID-19 Restrictions

The three-week period of new restrictions, including a ban on in-person learning at colleges and high schools and the suspension of high school sports and dine-in service at Michigan restaurants and bars. Remote work is required if that is possible for the employee.

The restrictions will take effect on Wednesday, Nov. 18, and last through the Thanksgiving holiday and until Dec. 8, according to a document summarizing the changes obtained by MLive.

Elementary and middle schools can still conduct in-person learning if the local district allows it.

The following entertainment options are prohibited under the new restrictions:

- Theaters
- Stadiums
- Arcades
- Bowling centers, ice rinks and indoor water parks
- Fitness classes in a group (individual gym and pool time allowed)

Indoor gatherings remain limited to 10 people, but no more than two households can meet in the same place. Outdoor gathering limits have shrunk to 25 people, which includes funerals.

Retail businesses, salons, barber shops, public transit, child-care centers, parks and health-care facilities are still open. Some college sports will be restricted; however, professional sports are still allowed with no spectators at either.

Sunday's action is the latest MDHHS public health order that acts similarly to Whitmer's executive orders that the Michigan Supreme Court struck down on partisan lines in early October. She previously issued a stay-at-home order on March 23, which lasted until June. Director Gordon, the MDHHS director, derives his authority to issue the order from the public health code, which states: "If the director determines that control of an epidemic is necessary to protect the public health, the director by emergency order may prohibit the gathering of people for any purpose and may establish procedures to be followed during the epidemic to insure continuation of essential public health services and enforcement of health laws. Emergency procedures shall not be limited to this code."

That law's constitutionality was not part of the case in the Michigan Supreme Court. The Public Health Code was ratified by the state legislature in 1978.
